TIVATING BEAUTY A MARVELOUS

REVELATION TO WOMEN.

Why do women go around with old wrinkled faces and horrible complexions when they can be restored to perfect youth and beauty for less money than it takes to buy a new hat? I pity the husbanes and friends of such women, says Mime. Yale, and it is their own fault half the time when their husband falls in love with some one else.

Mme. Yale's system for removing wrinkles, making the old young, and cultivating beauty has lifted women from the dark ages into Paradise. A woman may be forty and look eighteen, fifty and look twenty-five, sixty and look thirty. The face should be no talltale of years.

A SUCCESS IN HER OWN GASE. At the are of forty Mme. Yale is as fresh and lovely Family and other crown heads of Europe.

Public receptions will be held every day this week at her Temple of Beauty in Washington. Her famous Beauty Book given free to every caller. Mailed to any address upon receipt of 6 cents postage.

LADIES CAN BE TREATED AT A DISTANCE. LA FRECKLA is Mme. Yale's great discovery. The only known cure for frackled faces, $1 per bottle. Sent out of town upon receipt of price. Skin Food, guaranteed to remove wrinkles, $1.50 and $3. Two sizes.

THE DEAF TO HEAR

COMMON FORMS OF DEAFNESS AND THEIR

RESTORATION OF HEARING BY THE NEW

The most frequent result of an aural disorder is deafness, and it need scarcely be said that impair-ment of hearing, in proportion to its intensity, beomes one of the most severe afflictions incident to namiful. To some it is even more disqualifying for which has met with unpreceeither the duties and the enjoyments of life than the loss of sight. To the naturally intelligent, therefore, the loss of hearing will be more grievous than the deprivation of this city from

The instrument which is illustrated herewith is called a Tympano-Motor, and produces rapid vibrations of air in the space between the movine part of the instrument and the ear drum of the individual; each vibration of air, of which there are many hundreds in a minute, produces a similar vibration of the ear drum, the amplitude of the vibrations being perfectly under the control of the physician, and increased or decreased as the exigencies of the case call for. The results of this method of treatment are increased circulation in and around the parts, the nerves are stimulated. This influences the muscles themselves, where the stimulation becomes stored a living force; in this manner the muscles increase in classicity, and their power of performing work is increased, newly formed tissue is absorbed, the stiffened articulations of the little bones are loosened, adhe-sions stretched, the drum head regains its resiliency and it is then in a state to receive and transfer sounds that were before inaudible.

In that most distressing symptom, ringing in the ears, the treatment is surprisingly efficacious, the great majority of patients experiencing a decided abatement in its intensity at each application.
